Technology Enhanced Language Learning

Connecting theory and practice

Author: Aisha Walker, Goodith White

Publisher: Oxford University Press, 2013

This book brings together the theory and practice of using technology in the classroom. The authors focus on the theory behind using the different technologies in the hope that teachers will be able to integrate the new technologies in a principled and lasting manner.

Each chapter focuses on a particular skill (listening, speaking, writing, reading, assessment etc.) and contains practical tasks to illustrate the different uses of technology and allow teachers to become more familiar with some currently useful tools.

The authors are ESOL teachers but this book is ideal for all language teachers grappling with new technologies and trying to find what is best for their students.
