Chularat Prasertdee 2017 Programme Participant

“All the trips to various places were interesting and informative.”

What would you recommend about the programme to potential applicants?

This is an excellent programme that gives you the opportunity to interact with both adults and children living in rural and urban Fukushima.

What left the strongest impression on you after visiting Fukushima?

The resilience and positivity displayed by the people of Fukushima.

How were the visits to Fukushima's schools?

As a teacher the struggles the students and teachers have had to overcome really left a deep impression on me.

Which of the cultural experiences did you enjoy the most?

I enjoyed the farm stay the most. The food was spectacular and I learned a lot about every day life in Japan.

Nick Williams 2017 Programme Participant

“I look forward to using these experiences to Benefit students in NZ and Japan.”

What would you recommend about the programme to potential applicants?

Not only is it an extremely high quality cultural immersion programme, it also showcases the amazing resilience of the people of Fukushima, and the impressive recovery that has taken place since the disaster in 2011.

What left the strongest impression on you after visiting Fukushima?

How warmly my host family received me and the time I spent with them hearing their stories.

How were the visits to Fukushima's schools?

We participated in a variety of fun activities run by the students at each of the schools.

Which of the cultural experiences did you enjoy the most?

My favorite experience was when we visited a traditional Japanese Inn, which included a very nice outdoor onsen (hot spring).
